

CF02 Cakes: Saffron cakes, Hevva cakes

Old Man Crudge's Cornish Fayre

The Cornish bake a wide variety of great cakes. The most famous are the Saffron and Hevva cakes.

Saffron cake contains the spice, brought by Phoenician sailors landing to barter with saffron in exchange for tin.

After directing the fishermen to the pilchard shoals, the Hevva cake was baked by the huers when they got home. It would be ready when the crews returned to land.
