

SP10 Wrestling

Chalk & Cheese's Cornish Sports

An ancient Cornish sport in which both wrestlers wear jackets to enable them to get a grip on their opponent. All holds are taken upon the other wrestler's jacket.

Grabbing of the wrists or fingers, or below the waist is forbidden. The aim is to throw the opponent flatly onto their back. This move is known as a 'back'.

The referee is known as a 'stickler'. There are three referees who judge if a 'back' has been achieved.
